

Strive To Sidetrack Filibuster

Senate Leaders Hold New Round Of Conferences; Tie-up in 13th Day

WASHINGTON, Mar. 14 — (AP) — Senate Republican leaders threw their weight today behind efforts to reach a compromise in the anti-filibuster fight.

Chairman Taft (Ohio) said the GOP policy committee took no formal vote but decided to support the peace talks.

The committee acted informally after hearing a report from minority floor leader Wherry (Neb.) Wherry attended a week-end meeting of southern Democrats and administration leaders in an effort to reach agreement on a proposed change in Senate debating rules.

Southerners, opposing the rules change, also held a closed meeting. Senator Russell (D-Ga) said the Dixie lawmakers came to an agreement on what they are willing to do to end their talkfest. He declined to say what the agreement provides.

Negotiations Delicate
Russell told reporters: The negotiations now in progress are so delicate that I don't care to comment further.

A similar position was taken by Taft. He said the GOP policy group has "a definite position" on the compromise efforts. But he refused to outline the position while peace talks are in progress. He said to do so might jeopardize the compromise efforts.

Administration leaders, meanwhile, engaged in further talks on the stalemate that has tied up the Senate. The tie-up is in its 13th day today.

Ahead lies the picture of prospective "round-the-clock" sessions, and deep Democratic party cleavage, if no compromise is reached. In the background tremendous pressure is building up from the log jam of administrative legislation that now has no place to go.

Immediate Issue
The immediate issue in dispute is a proposed change in the rules to curtail the filibuster. The Senate now is embroiled in it.

The proposal has been overshadowed by its relationship to civil rights legislation which southerners have defeated in the past with unchecked debate.

The decision to hold more conferences was reached yesterday at an unusual Sunday meeting in the office of Democratic leader Lucas (Ill.). It brought together key administration Democrats — with the blessings of President Truman — southern leaders and Republican spokesmen.

After it was over Lucas told reporters "no understanding" was reached, but "we are making progress."

Lucas added that another meeting of the working group probably will be held this afternoon. Meanwhile, Lucas said that the Senate will "move right along" the same as it has been for the past two weeks with the speech-making. Whether it would be kept in night session, or round-the-clock, Lucas would not say flatly.

The Christian faith is not one of cold intellect; rather it is full of love, grace and humanity. ## Red Cross Campaign Is Meeting With Gratifying Results

The Red Cross campaign so far, according to reports, is meeting with most gratifying response. This week two things are necessary: That all teams and workers report and that everyone be contacted. Success is assured if the workers do a thorough job and once more Sedalia will be able to throw out her chest with civic pride as a community that responds to a worthy appeal.

White House Confiscated Reels of Film

Returned After Security Parts Are Deleted

By Ernest B. Vaccaro

KEY WEST, Fla., March 14.—(AP)—The White House today confiscated films of news reel cameramen. Still photographers destroyed their film rather than permit confiscation after a picture taking flight over Key West.

Representatives of Paramount News, NBC Television, the Associated Press, International News Photos and Acme News pictures made the flight in a navy airplane.

They made pictures of President Truman in swimming at the enlisted men's beach of the president and his party waving from the beach, general views of Key West and of the commandant's quarters which Mr. Truman uses as the temporary White House while on vacation here.

Waiting For Reporters
Charles G. Ross, press secretary to Mr. Truman, and Rear Admiral Robert L. Dennison, presidential naval aide, were waiting when the reporters landed after a flight that was to have taken about 45 minutes had been extended 30 minutes to permit Ross to get to the field.

Who gave you permission to make those pictures? the photographers, including Byron H. Rollins of The Associated Press, were asked by Ross.

They replied that the navy had given permission.

Aren't you interested in the president's security? Ross was quoted as asking.

Of course, we are, the reporters came back.

To Delete Security Parts
They said then that Ross asked them to turn over their films to him. Tom Craven, cameraman for Paramount News and Joe Vardala of NBC Television News, replied. Ross said it would be looked over and the security parts deleted.

The still photographers, Rollins, Milton Freier of Acme News Pictures and Al Muto of International News Photos, exposed their films rather than submit to censorship.

The movie film was turned over to James J. Rowley, chief of the White House secret service detail, for development, to permit saving of scenic shots of Key West, at Ross' suggestion.

The still photographers said they did not make the scenic shots but simply newscamera pictures of the president on vacation and an air shot of the White House quarters.

The whole discussion at the air field was described as friendly.

Eleven-Year-Old Commits Suicide

HAMILTON, O., March 14.—(AP) — Eleven-year-old Joanne Stillings shot and killed herself in apparent despondency over her inability to form any friendships among schoolmates, Coroner Garrett Boone reported today.

Dr. Boone termed the death a suicide.

Dr. Boone said the child had attended Wilson Junior high school, where arrangements had been made for her to see a psychiatrist.

Twenty notes were found in the child's room, indicating the contemplated suicide because of her inability to make friends, the coroner reported.

LEBANON, Mo., March 14.—(AP) — Earl W. Myers, 25, of Nebo, Mo., was killed Saturday night in an auto-truck crash eight miles south of here. The auto in which Myers was riding collided with a state highway department truck driven by George F. Wright, Lebanon.

Smith-Cotton Debate Team Wins Tourney

Now Hold State Championship of Forensic League

The Smith-Cotton high school debate team won the state tournament of the National Forensic League, the only national speech organization, held at the Normandy high school in St. Louis Saturday.

The team, composed of Bob Gardner, Cecil Lujin, Dennis Semkin and Jim Johnston, under the direction of Miss Ann Sawford of the speech department has won one victory after another all year. Winning most of the debates they entered they have placed first or second in all tournaments.

Sixteen schools competed in the tournament. The debate team won four out of six in the preliminaries and in the quarter finals was pitted against Sikeston with the negative team composed of Lujin and Gardner debating. Winning over Sikeston the Smith-Cotton team was qualified for the semi-finals in which they debated the Jackson team. This was also the negative team of Lujin and Gardner and again they won to put Smith-Cotton into the finals.

Final Debate
In the finals the opponent was the Springfield team which had won four tournaments this year and placed second in the Oklahoma City tournament. This time it was Semkin and Johnston from Smith-Cotton who debated and won, which gave Smith-Cotton the title held last year by the St. Louis University high school Billikens.

This is the first state championship won by a Smith-Cotton debate team in a number of years.

Six Divisions
The speech tournament was divided into six divisions: Debate, extemporaneous speaking, oratorical declamation, dramatic declamation, humorous declamation and original oratory.

The entry list from Sedalia other than the debate team were: Extemporaneous speaking, Dennis Semkin, Bob Johnston and Leo Eickhoff, Jr.; oratorical declamation, Leo Eickhoff, Jr. and Arthur Spraggins; dramatic declamation, Bob Gardner and Bob Van Horn; humorous declamation, Milton Chamberlain and Bob Van Horn and original oration, Cecil Lujin.

A national contest is held in every event except debate. Due to the ruling of American Association of Secondary School Principals limiting the number of students who may leave the state to participate in an event, there is no debate event. The national tournament on all other events will be held at Longmont, Colo.

Another Debate in K. C.
There is, however, a National Student Junior Congress of the United States which is attended by the outstanding debaters from each state. The National Junior Congress is patterned after the Congress of the United States and is something like Boy's State. At the Junior Congress the group formulates laws and legislation. The Smith-Cotton debate team will participate in another tournament to be held in Kansas City the 25th and 26th of this month.

HAMBURG, Germany, March 14.—(AP)—The east-west blockade was temporarily lifted today to allow six bears to enter the British zone.

Even bears have to have "papers" in this country. Police on both sides of the border at Vorsefelde solemnly checked Russian and English permits allowing the bears to travel. Rubber stamps and printed words in Russian, German and English are a must for everyone crossing this border.

The bears were out of their train to pass through the pedestrians' barrier for the benefit of photographers.

On rode a bicycle, another had his scooter. The other walked. Two bored bears snatched the chance to climb a tree. After they were recaptured, the bear troupe boarded the train again to resume the journey to a West German circus.

Major Shifts In Top Soviet Leadership

Changes Announced To Council of Nationalities

By Eddy Gilmore

MOSCOW, March 14.—(AP)—New major shifts in the top Soviet leadership were announced today in a decree of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet.

Nikolai A. Voznesensky has been relieved as chairman of the State Planning Commission. This job placed him at the head of the U.S.S.R.'s industrial production. He also has been released from duties as a deputy prime minister.

Ivan T. Golyakov was relieved of his duties as president of the Supreme Court of the U.S.S.R.

The changes were announced to the Council of Nationalities, one of the two equal houses of the Supreme Soviet, now in session. The council approved.

Other Changes
The planning job went to Voznesensky's vice-chairman, Maxim Z. Saburov, who was the commission's chairman once before, in 1941. Saburov became a deputy prime minister in February, 1947.

He is one of a dozen vice chairmen of the council of ministers, the Soviet cabinet, of whom V. M. Molotov ranks first.

Soviet industries were sharply criticized at the opening meeting of the Supreme Soviet's current session. Finance Minister A. G.

NEW YORK, March 14.—
(AP)—A committee dedicated to "liberate Russia from the Communist dictatorship" has been formed by 25 Russian expatriates, including Alexander F. Kerensky.

Kerensky, premier of the provisional government of Russia following the overthrow of the czar in 1917, left Russia 30 years ago after the short-lived republic was deposed.

He has urged several times that the United States, as a move to prevent war with Russia, encourage anti-Communist propaganda among the Russian people.

Zverev blasted certain industries for meeting their goals by making the goods easiest to produce, rather than concentrating on the needs of the Soviet consumers, and declared this sort of thing must stop.

Voznesensky, only 45, is the youngest member of the all-powerful party executive, the Politburo of 11 members headed by Prime Minister Stalin. (There was no indication in this dispatch whether he would retain the Politburo membership.)

Prior Shifting
The change was made March 5, at about the same time V. M. Molotov was released from his duties as foreign minister and replaced by Andrei V. Vishinsky. At the same time A. I. Mikoyan was relieved of duties as minister of foreign trade and was replaced by a relative unknown, Andrei Gromyko, former Soviet delegate to the United Nations.

The council quickly approved the Presidium is a body of the Supreme Soviet which acts in an executive and directive capacity between sessions.

Read Decree at Council
(The third five year plan, which Saburov had been named to direct in March, 1941, was interrupted by the German invasion of Russia.)

The announcements were made by Alexei F. Gorkin, secretary of the Presidium, who read the decree to the Council of Nationalities. The council quickly approved.

Inquiry Into Slot Machines

LIBERTY, Mo., March 14.—(AP)—Circuit Judge James S. Rooney today instructed a grand jury to investigate the alleged operation of slot machines at Excelsior Springs.

"This county has received a bad reputation recently in regard to slot machines in operation," he said in his charge. "Gambling syndicate recently has been general in its operation across the country and the racket is spreading."

Law enforcement officers raided three hotels at the Clay county resort last week, but reported they found only one machine, which appeared not to have been in use recently.

Gov. Forrest Smith requested Sheriff Curtis Hay to investigate after he read reports in the Kansas City Star of slot machine operations.

"Regardless of what you think personally," the judge told the jurors, "gambling is a violation of the law and should be stopped. Should it continue, many undesirable persons would enter the county."

Draft System Should be in Labor Dept.

Hoover Group States This Division Should be Built up

By Harold W. Ward

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP)—The Hoover commission recommended to Congress today that the selective service system be placed in the labor department.

The commission proposed that several other agencies also be transferred to the labor department to build up that executive branch.

Headed by former president Herbert Hoover, the commission is a bi-partisan group asked by Congress to recommend improvements in the government's executive structure.

The commission's report on the selective service system was not unanimous.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who is vice chairman of the commission, dissented along with outgoing defense secretary James V. Forrestal and Carter Manasco, former member of Congress from Alabama.

Agreed on Civilians
All 12 members of the commission agreed that the selective service system should be headed by civilians — but the three dissenters said it should remain independent.

Forrestal speaking for Manasco and himself said: We feel that it would be a mistake to place it within any of the agencies of the government which are charged by law to represent a particular interest or segment of the population."

The majority decided, however, that the manpower question was related to the labor department's function and the drafting of civilians for war should be handled there.

The commission deplored the stripping of labor department agencies by the 80th Congress. It said the department should be built up in the interests of efficiency in government.

Now Has a Secretary
The department now has a secretary, undersecretary, and three assistant secretaries, all with their own staffs. That is top heavy, the commission said, for the work now being done by the department.

In addition to the selective service agency, the commission proposed that other units should be transferred to the labor department.

The bureau of employees compensation and the appeals board of that agency, both now under the federal security agency. Those units handle claims for compensation for government workers injured on the job.

The bureau of employment security, which has the U. S. employment service, or jobless benefits. The commission also would shift the veterans' employment service from the FSA to the labor department.

Reasons For Proposed Change
The U. S. maritime commission's section which now determines minimum wages for seamen.

The division of industrial hygiene now in the bureau of state services in the federal security agency.

"There are cogent reasons why these agencies should be transferred to the department of labor," the report said.

These functions are more nearly related to the problems of labor than those with which they are now associated, and their commission's first report as to the need for grouping of agencies according to their major purpose."

Auto Collision Results in Death

MEXICO, Mo., March 14.—(AP)—An auto collision on U. S. Highway 40 near here yesterday resulted in the death of Mrs. Bonita Globus, 46, of Kansas City. Five other persons were injured in the crash.

Injured were Mrs. Globus' husband, Meyer Globus; their sons, Richard, 19, and Robert, 14, and the occupants of the second vehicle, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Paydon of St. Louis.

The State Highway Patrol said the accident occurred as the cars rounded a curve on slippery pavement.

Breakfast Meeting of Red Cross Officers and Workers

A breakfast meeting of the officers and workers of the Red Cross Fund Raising Campaign was held this morning at 8:00 o'clock at the Bothwell hotel.

Those present were as follows: Ray Lippard, Mrs. Eula R. Spencer, Mrs. A. A. Studebaker, Mrs. Henry Menefee, Philip M. McLaughlin, Abe Silverman, Joe Rosenthal, Oscar DeWolf, Harry Naugel and Chester L. Wolfe.

Mr. McLaughlin, chairman of the Pettis County Red Cross Chapter urged all workers to report the results of their canvass today so that this information could be sent to the St. Louis office by March 15.

Ray Lippard, Fund Raising Campaign chairman spoke briefly on the progress of the present campaign. Mr. Lippard stated: "That while the goal of $10,821.00 for Pettis county has not yet been reached, the response so far by the people has been excellent. I am sure that Pettis county will reach the quota as they have always done, provided that every worker contacts every person assigned to him and that all of the citizens of Pettis county contribute as they have done in the past." He also stated that the latest list of firms reported where employees had contributed 100% are as follows:

C. W. Flower Dry Goods Co., St. Louis Clothing Co., McLaughlin Brothers Furniture Co., and the Public Library.

It was further reported that the Hughesville district has responded to the call for funds and oversubscribed their quota to this campaign.

Mrs. Menefee reported that the campaign in east Sedalia had been unusually successful but that other sections of the residential areas had not responded so well as expected.

Mrs. Spencer reviewed a number of case histories of the service rendered by the Pettis County Red Cross Chapter which emphasized the need for support by every one interested in the welfare of their community.

They Don't Like Boyd

Miners at the Valley Camp Coal Mine in Wheeling, W. Va., expressed scorn for a picture of James Boyd, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, whom John L. Lewis called "incompetent and unqualified." The United Mine Workers chieftain called a surprise two-week work stoppage as a "mourning period" for the 1015 miners killed in accidents during 1948.

Another

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, March 14 — John L. Lewis recently won some votes in favor of keeping one of the Taft-Hartley provisions which labor dislikes most — the right of injunction to halt strikes against the public interests.

The National Association of Manufacturers backed by George Sokolsky and a battery of propagandists couldn't have been as effective as John L. Lewis. For Lewis' lieutenant, John Owens, hinted before a senate committee that the miners would strike if the senate confirmed Dr. James Boyd as director of the Bureau of Mines.

Several senators who have been on the fence regarding injunctions now believe that injunctions may be the only way to deal with a labor leader who threatens a strike if Congress exercises its constitutional right to confirm a presidential appointment.

Inside fact is that previously John L. Lewis used to dominate the Bureau of Mines. He had a brother-in-law working there and also helped pick the bureau's director, Dr. R. R. Sayers. Eventually it developed that Lewis knew as much about what was going on inside the bureau as its top boss, Secretary of the Interior Krug. Shortly after Krug discovered this, Sayers stepped out to take a job with the United Mine Workers while Krug appointed Dr. Boyd, then dean of the Colorado School of Mines, to take his place. Lewis has held up Dr. Boyd's appointment ever since, chiefly through GOP Senator Eugene Millikin of Colorado.

Now Truman has called for a showdown between himself and Lewis as to which controls senate confirmations.

Loafing Democrats Overworked Bloom

One thing that contributed to the death of much-loved Congressman Sol Bloom was overwork. And his work load was increased by the fact that many Democratic members of the House foreign affairs committee brazenly loafed on the job, leaving most of the work to Sol and the Republicans.

While the 11 Republican members of the committee usually are present, sometimes as few as three Democrats have turned up. This once caused conscientious Congressman John Kee of West Virginia to remark, "Maybe what we need is a police force to get our colleagues to attend meetings."

So far statesmanlike Congressman Charles Eaton of New Jersey, leader of the Republicans, hasn't taken advantage of this. But he could easily turn the tables on the Democrats and put the Republicans in the position of running American foreign policy.

As a result the first act of new Democratic chairman John Kee, when he took over following Sol Bloom's death, was to warn Democratic congressmen it was time for them to quit playing hooky.

Note — Sometimes it has even been necessary to telegraph Democrat Joseph L. Pfeiffer of Brooklyn at his home to insure his attendance for committee votes.

Real Servant of Brotherhood
When Forrest Warren, now on the San Diego Journal, was a reporter on the Atchison Kas Globe, he lost his wife under the wheels of a train. Perhaps that tragedy had something to do with causing Warren to spend much of his time since then listening to the sorrows of others and doing something about them.

At any rate, Warren has become a tireless worker for his fellow men. He has organized a revolving wheel chair service in which there are more than 600 wheel chairs and many walkers for polio victims. He originated the San Diego shoe fund, collecting $40,000 and more than 100,000 pairs of shoes that were repaired and given to needy children.

At Christmas time Warren conducts a Santa-Helper program by which 4,000 men, women and children are cheered with holiday presents. He has collected money to buy books projected on the ceiling via films so that flat-on-the-back patients may read pages on the ceiling above their beds.

Warren, now 71 years old, does all this in addition to his regular work on the San Diego Journal. He is a real Servant of Brotherhood.

Bodyguard to The Rescue

ously than the Chicago Tribune. These attacks have also been centered on Truman's military aide, Gen. Harry Vaughan. Nevertheless, Tribune publisher Col. McCormick has now found something in common with Harry Truman and Harry Vaughan. He is an admirer of Dictator Peron of Argentina.

Col. McCormick has been traveling through Latin America spending an average of thirty hours in each of four capitals — but spent more time in Buenos Aires where President Peron pinned a medal on his breast — the same kind of medal given to General Vaughan.

After lunching with Peron, McCormick informed the press that he and the dictator were in complete accord on western hemisphere affairs.

Other things about the colonel's trip were interesting. One was the way American ambassadors kowtowed to McCormick, giving the impression that the publisher's views were sympathetically received in Washington. Wherever he stopped McCormick was wined and dined by the U. S. envoy, with top government officials of each country invited.

Another interesting fact was McCormick's rabid attitude toward Europe which became so violently manifest that even his own interpreter toned down his remarks. In Quito, Ecuador, for instance, McCormick told local newsmen if the Red army invades western Europe, the only thing it can accomplish is to destroy western Europe. And he made a gesture indicating his indifference to such an outcome. But Jack

Einstein is 70 Years Old

PRINCETON, N. J., March 14.—(AP)—Albert Einstein is 70 years old today.
The world-famous scientist, as is his custom, insisted on a day of no interviews, no statements, no celebrations.
Members of his household said he would forego his usual three-quarter mile walk to the Institute of Advanced Study today and remain at home "to sit and think."
The gentle, bushy-haired Einstein has said before that birthday celebrations are only for children. Nonetheless the occasion brought tribute from leading scientists of many nations.
Yesterday at his modest frame home a delegation of children called on Einstein. They presented him with a bouquet of flowers. Einstein chatted with them. He then took turns on sitting on his lap and introduced them to his pet terrier, "Chico."

POP Goes the QUEEN

THE STORY: John Henry and Sin Conover, deeply involved in a murder mystery, check over their recent unpleasant experiences and decide that of all the suspects, the person who must have committed the recent killings is Mr. Trim, who is supposed to represent a tooth-paste company. The Conovers won their desert vacation trip, on which they were supposed to go on a quiet show sponsored by the firm. Trim, in response to John's telephone call, meets them at the edge of the resort town.

TRIM turned out the car lights and shut off the engine. John Henry could hear a car door open and close, then the sound of footsteps crunching in the dirt, coming closer.
"Where's Mr. Conover?" Trim asked as he approached.
"He's—he'll be back in a minute," Sin stammered.
"Well, I certainly was worried about you two, Mrs. Conover, I don't mind saying," Mr. Trim was saying.
"Let's get off the road," Sin managed. "Here, behind these bushes—over here."
"Say, but I was relieved to get your phone call. I just knew you two couldn't be involved in what happened this afternoon," the little man continued. John Henry braced himself for the spring. Through the leaves, he could see the bobbing outlines of their two heads as they trudged toward him. Trim seemed to be wearing a three-cornered hat.
"We've been worrying, too," Sin said, glancing nervously toward the bushes. They were two yards away now.
One yard.
John Henry leaped like a tiger for Trim's throat.
The small man let out a yelp of pure terror and jumped backward. John Henry's hands missed the scrawny throat and fastened instead on a wide leather belt. The

Details of Atlantic Pact To be Known Soon

By John Marlow
WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP)—We'll learn the details of the Atlantic pact soon, maybe Friday, from the state department.
The pact is a military alliance worked out by the United States and other nations which border on or near the North Atlantic.
It has a double purpose.
To make the Allies so militarily strong that they not only can withstand an attack from Russia but even discourage one from starting.
(Communists claim its real purpose is to get ready for an attack on Russia.)
The pact will not become a fact at all unless the U. S. senate approves by a two-thirds vote. That may take months.
Details Kept Secret
Details on the pact have been kept pretty secret. When they are released this week, they'll open a floodgate for:
News on the pact, interpretations, hair splitting on the meaning of words in the pact, senate debate, editorials, radio discussions.
Talks on the pact began last summer between the U. S., Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg. Norway and Denmark joined the conversations later. Iceland, Portugal and Italy may come in.
The pact is a treaty. Since the senate must approve any treaties in which we take part, that's why the pact is not a fact unless, and until the senate okays.
It's expected to be in this case, but not before plenty of argument because all those signing the treaty agree to help each other out in case of attack.
How to Help is Question
The $64 question, for the senate, is how to help out.
If Russia attacks any of the Allies, do we throw our armed forces into battle at once?
Or do we help out in some other way? But what other way is worth a dime if an ally is attacked?
And there's the question of arms? Do we start pouring arms

Start Legal Fireworks In Baseball

Move to Break Down Baseball's Reserve Clause

NEW YORK, March 14—(AP)—Legal fireworks start popping today in moves to break down organized baseball's reserve clause.

Frederick A. Johnson, attorney for Danny Gardella said he would seek a federal court writ today restoring the former Giants' outfielder to active play until his $300,000 suit against the game is settled.

Tomorrow two other major league players suspended for jumping to the Mexican league—Max Lanier and Fred Martin, both former St. Louis Cardinals pitchers—will seek re-instatement pending settlement of their damage suits amounting to $2,500,000.

Officers of the game have been directed to show cause tomorrow why bans on Lanier and Martin shouldn't be lifted immediately and why the players shouldn't be permitted to dicker on contracts not containing the reserve clause.

It's the reserve clause, that part of every baseball contract which binds a player to one team until that team is ready to dispose of him, that is under fire in these separate suits.

The banished players charge that baseball is a monopoly functioning in violation of the anti-trust laws. They contend their suspensions have prevented them from earning a livelihood.

Defendants in the $2,500,000 suit filed by Lanier and Martin are A. B. Chandler, commissioner of baseball; Ford C. Frick, president of the National League; Will Harridge, president of the American league; George Trautman, president of the National Association (Minors) and the 16 major league clubs.

Sport Roundup By Hugh Fullerton, Jr. STATE COLLEGE, Pa., March 14—(AP)—Just a couple of hours before he officially became head football coach at Penn State, Joe Bedenk, in the role of baseball tutor, was politely needing football coaches.

Joe pointed out that the last confab with the professional baseball moguls again had produced complaints that college ball players had to go out for spring football instead of playing ball. "I think there's less of that than there used to be," said Joe. "We're just about done away with it here, but you know how football coaches are."

Why, Hig (he glanced across at his pal Bob Higgins) didn't like it when Chuck Drazenovich went out for boxing? "Another Bedenk angle is that it's unfair to boys who are majoring in physical education not to let them go out for all sports."

"It gets so a football man is only a football man and then high school principals start hiring men from the smaller teachers colleges, where they can compete in everything, as their physical education teachers. . . . And most of our boys are physical education majors."

It sounds sensible, but we wonder how Bedenk is going to work it now that he is going to work it now that he has spring football and baseball practice running at the same time—and he's head coach of both. You know how football coaches are.

Scrap Collection Southern California and UCLA hooking up for basketball double-headers in Los Angeles, are trying to lure Illinois and Michigan to the west coast for round robin twin bills. . . . Statisticians for the Augusta Masters' golf tournament found only three players who have played in all 12 tournaments. And for the 48 rounds, Ed Dudley was 64 strokes over par and Jug McSpaden and Horton Smith both 94 over. . . . Ralph Branca's two brothers, Paul and Al, have gone south for try-outs at the Pittsburgh Pirates farm "school." . . . They are both pitchers.

Kentucky to Start N.I.T. Quest Today

Meeting Loyola U. This Afternoon in New York Tourney

NEW YORK, March 14—(AP)—Today is "D" day for Kentucky.

The mighty Wildcats from the Blue Grass country begin their quest for the National Invitation Basketball title this afternoon against Loyola of Chicago. If their ambitious plan of attack succeeds, they'll be kings of both the NIT and the NCAA within 12 days.

Winners of 29 of 30 games during the regular season, the Wildcats are an even money favorite to win the invitation. Never before has the affair had such a short-priced choice.

There is every indication, however, that Kentucky will have to work for its honors.

Take today's game. Loyola, paced by six and a half feet of Jack Kerris, has won 23 of 28 games, including an under-wrap 62-47 decision over City College of New York in the first round of the tournament Saturday night.

Two of Loyola's victories were over Bowling Green. And Kentucky voted Bowling Green which it beat by two points, the best team it played all year.

The Kentucky-Loyola battle is the windup of the matinee card which presents another Kentucky outfit—the powerful Bradley Hilltoppers—against Bradley university in the first game.

The night program matches Utah and San Francisco at 7 p. m. (CST) and Bowling Green against defending champion St. Louis at about 8:45.

The tournament had a one-day run Saturday as a 12-team affair to take care of four New York entries. They were well taken care of. St. John's of Brooklyn, lost by 12 points to Bowling Green, 77-64. City's 13-point defeat by Loyola was followed by Bradley's 89-67 whipping of New York University and San Francisco's 68-43 trouncing of Manhattan.

Bill Rigney Is Hospitalized PHOENIX, Ariz., March 14—(AP)—Bill Rigney was hospitalized today because of a heart condition but the New York Giants' second baseman may be playing baseball again in about a week.

The Giants' physician said he believed the heart condition was brought on by nervousness.

The star infielder collapsed yesterday while resting in the clubhouse. Earlier he had complained of pains and faintness after the fourth inning of an exhibition game here between the Giants and the Cleveland Indians.

Dr. Anthony Palermo, the Giants' physician, said X-rays showed a "pulmonary congestion and an irregular heart beat."

He said he believes on the basis of preliminary examinations Rigney will be playing again in about a week.

The physician said, however, he had ordered carotidograms taken of the player to enable him to tell just how severe was the attack.

Sportsmanship Dinner For N.C.A.A. Coaches KANSAS CITY, March 14—(AP)—Visiting coaches and officials of the Western N. C. A. A. basketball play-offs here this week-end will be guests Thursday at a "sportsmanship dinner" sponsored by a Kansas City American Legion Post.

Ted Bland, chairman of the sportsmanship committee of the Blue Hills Post No. 469, announced that an award will be made to the Big Seven Conference teams showing the best sportsmanship in its play during the season.

Also included in the guest list will be Big Seven Conference coaches and athletic directors, and sports writers and radio commentators of the Missouri Valley area.

Nebraska And Oklahoma in NCAA Playoff

Teams Are Tied For Big Seven Cage Championship

By Skipper Patrick

KANSAS CITY, March 14—(AP)—Oklahoma and Nebraska, co-champions of Big Seven conference basketball, meet tonight in the first of two playoffs leading to a district NCAA berth.

Tonight's winner will meet Coach Hank Iba's Oklahoma A. and M. Aggies, Missouri Valley conference titlist, Wednesday in a playoff for the fifth district bid.

The games will be played in Kansas City's municipal auditorium.

Coach Bruce Drake's Oklahoma Sooners twice defeated Nebraska in regular season play 47-45 at Norman, Okla., and 56-49 in overtime at Lincoln, Nebr., but were toppled by Kansas State and once by Missouri.

Nebraska also was defeated by Kansas State, but won its first co-title since 1937. The Cornhuskers have never won an undisputed Big Seven championship.

In season play, Nebraska won 15 and lost 9 and Oklahoma won 14 and lost 9. The Sooners played a slightly tougher schedule than the Cornhuskers.

Oklahoma has been made a slight favorite because of its two victories over Nebraska in conference competition and because of its tournament-wise squad.

Forward Paul Courty, Center Bill Waters and Guards Paul Merchant and Ken Rhymer all were members of the Oklahoma team that lost to Holy Cross in the NCAA finals at New York three winters ago.

Claude Retherford, a veteran guard, and the Big Seven's leading scorer in conference games, and tall Milton (Bus) Whitehead are two of Nebraska's main assets.

On a basis of conference play, Nebraska racked up an offensive average of 50.7 points per game, Oklahoma 47.5. Defensively over the twelve league tilts, Oklahoma was tops with a 45 point average. Nebraska allowed its opposition an average of 46.8 points.

Oklahoma gained a share of the Big Seven title Saturday night in beating Colorado, 55-44, at Norman, Okla.

The NCAA's western regional playoff involving four district representatives will be played here Friday and Saturday nights.

Award Winner Edson Strikes Blow For Capital 'Leg Men'

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—One of America's top reporters, Peter Edson, of NEA Service, has struck a blow for "pavement-pounding leg men" and against those who loosely label all Washington correspondents as "arm-chair reporters."

Immediately after receiving the $500 Raymond Clapper award from President Truman at the White House correspondents' annual dinner, the NEA Service and Washington columnist announced he will put up five prizes of $100 each for the five best jobs of reporting by Washington newsmen during 1948. He asked the four previous recipients of the Clapper award to act as judges.

"Columnists have an advantage in winning awards," Edson said, "because they can pick their own stories and write as they please. But the best reporting done in this town is done by leg men—the working reporters on the beats."

Edson criticized an article in a recent Harper's Magazine entitled "Washington's Armchair Correspondents—by One of them." He said the work his prizes would acknowledge would refute that article.

In handing the certificate of the Clapper award to Edson, President Truman smilingly said he approved Edson's plan to "distribute the wealth," as the columnist put it. He said Edson was the columnist for his own home town paper, the Independence (Mo.) Examiner.

Edson is columnist for almost everyone's home town paper—those whose home town is Washington or New York and those who hail from Beloit, Wis., or Waltham, Mass., or any one of hundreds of large and small communities the nation over. His column, distributed by NEA Service, reaches an estimated 20,000,000 persons each day.

Edson's popularity is based on the fact that he is an indefatigable reporter and he reports in the language of the average reader. He employs no leg men and his familiarity with first-hand sources is typified by the saying: "You usually meet Pete Edson coming out when you arrive at a big shot's office for an interview."

Babb's Hollywood Empire

Country Boy Says More Saw His First Than Any Other Picture; Ready With New One

Howard Babb and star Six-year-old Ginger Prince gets the top billing in his new (and second) movie, "The Lawton Story."

By NEA Service
WILMINGTON, O.—(NEA)—A slicked-up, fast-talking country boy has demonstrated that neither Hollywood's perpetual sunshine nor multi-million dollar budgets nor temperamental stars is necessary to make a super-colossal hit movie.

Right in this little Quaker city—population 59771 by the 1940 census—Howard "Kroger" Babb, with $200,000 made a picture that already has grossed $8,000,000, made him a millionaire, and he thinks there should be another $8,000,000 of gross left in it yet.

Babb claims that his first movie, "Mom and Dad," has been seen by more people than have seen any other moving picture, though its showing is banned in his own state and in New York, two major markets. He says it has been seen by more than 20 million persons in a dozen countries since it was produced in 1945.

Babb started working at the age of ten because his father, a well-to-do chain store operator, had the old-fashioned idea that boys should learn young to earn a living and look after themselves. His first job was in the local newspaper office, cleaning up for 50 cents a week. He sold papers, wrote sports, sold advertising, and in his spare time learned to referee sports events.

In 1934, at the age of 26, he went to work for a theatre organization. Told to "write his own check," he considered the depression and made it $50 a week. Within a few weeks his boss boosted him to $250 a week.

"When I saw that check," he says, "I knew the show business was for me."

For years Babb had an idea that the country needed a good educational film on sex, but every movie maker in Hollywood shied away from the idea. Then he took a "Dust to Dust" film on a road tour. It packed 'em in so that Jack Jossey, an owner of the Metropolitan Theatre in Cleveland, put up $125,000 to go with Babb's own $75,000 savings, to make the film he was urging.

That film was "Mom and Dad." It was made here, and there wasn't a star in it. "Mom and Dad" is the story of a high school girl who "got in trouble," was scorned by her priggish mother and helped by a high school teacher.

After being approved for a while in Ohio it was banned—not so much because it shows child-birth and a Caesarian operation as because of the ballyhoo with which Babb presents it and the lecture on sex hygiene with which it is interrupted at one stage. Six million books on sex hygiene have been sold at $1 each, in connection with the lecture. Babb publishes them.

Out of the impetus from "Mom and Dad's" huge success Babb has built up a three-company empire that operates with 900 full-time employees in 48 countries all over the world.

All three companies are HP. There are Hygienic Productions, Hollywood Productions and Hallmark Productions. The second has nothing to do with Hollywood pictures. It is in the vaudeville business, road-showing on one-night stands, mostly in smaller cities, troupes made up customarily of a name dance band and eight or nine acts. This is said to make Babb the biggest buyer of stage talent in the country. He spends $5,000,000 a year for such talent.

Now Babb is ready to launch a second movie that he thinks may prove almost as successful as his first. It is "The Lawton Story," based on the experiences of the Rev. A. Mark Wallock, a Protestant minister who started an Easter sunrise pageant based on the Life of Christ. It is to have its premiere April 1 near Lawton, Okla., where the pageant started 25 years ago.

This picture will have a star—six-year-old Ginger Prince. Babb will sell 30 seats for $1000 each, and the rest—in three theatres that will show the premiere simultaneously—will go for $5 each. "It isn't a sin to make a profit," Babb says.

'Jolly Old' Butlin Woos U. $. in the Bahamas

By EPNIE KINARD
NEA Staff Correspondent

HAMILTON, Bermuda.—(NEA)—England's holiday king, William (Jolly Old) Butlin, is getting ready to lure the vacation dollars of middle-income Americans to the Bahamas, traditional playground of millionaires.

A South African-born Canadian who made his millions from a circuit of six holiday villages in the British Isles ($30 a week, no extras), Butlin is transforming the primitive island of Grand Bahama, 60 miles off Florida, into his seventh "Jolly Old Butlin's" vacation camp.

Grand Bahama is as close as he could get to the U. S. mainland. "Hearing my English friends boast of the exports and all the dollars they were earning, I thought I would come over here and help take some dollars off you Americans," he explained.

He already is getting some of those dollars at Bermuda's Princess hotel, which recently reopened under Butlin's midas touch after being closed for 10 years.

Butlin, at 49, caters to the luxury trade in three other hotels he owns or directs besides the Princess, but his Grand Bahama venture, which will open in mid-January, 1950, is patterned after the "Jolly Old" camp ventures in England.

For a weekly rate of $100, "all-in," he will offer year-round vacations on an island thus far uninhabited by white men, except for construction crews he has flown in to clear roads, build beaches, and erect modern cottages and recreation halls.

By "all-in," Butlin means room, board, free accommodations for children two years old or younger, diaper service, cycling, boating, tennis, deep-sea fishing, movies, and similar attractions.

A one-time barker at an English seaside amusement park, he put "organized fun" into the vacations of British low-income people. At a "Jolly Old Butlin" camp, holidays include organized cycling, swimming, dancing, cricket, golf, beauty contests, and athletic competition. In one of his eight planes, he visits each camp at least once every 10 days and sends thousands of letters to vacationers who wear the blue Butlin badges.

At Grand Bahama, he hopes to attract the personnel of big American companies with the idea of staggering vacations over a year-round period instead of crowding them into the summer season.

To get his vacationers to the island, which is one hour by plane, three by boat from Palm Beach,

William Butlin and Bahama model: $100 a week, "all-in."

Corrosion-resistant stainless steel drums now are used to ship acids and other chemicals in solid or liquid form.

Nitric acid is produced in stainless steel vats. Chemical engineers say the acid has no corrosive effect on this metal.

'Smoky City' Gets Its Face Cleaned up

THE SMOKE'S STILL THERE, but only in the background. Now you can see Pittsburgh's Golden Triangle from the air (above) as the result of the city's smoke prevention triangle. How it will look when the Triangle gets a new look to go with its clean face is shown (below) in the city's redevelopment model.

By S. Burton Heath
NEA Staff Correspondent
PITTSBURGH — (NEA)—Pittsburgh isn't smoky any more. Air-line pilots, using Allegheny County airport, say that they fly through a ring of smog into a clearing—which is Pittsburgh.

The cleaning up of the once "Smoky City" is part of a big, active civic program in which a lot of the best people are working hard. But most of them say that the king-pin of the program in many respects is Richard K. Mellon.

The active head of the vast Mellon interests is given this credit partly because of his great influence, but perhaps even more because, civic leaders say, he has been far-sighted enough to act against what—at first glance—seemed to be his own financial interests.

When the big soft coal interests threatened to balk the city's smoke prevention program, insiders say, Mellon instructed spokesmen for this coal companies to back the program. When the Pennsylvania Railroad argued that it could not afford to substitute diesel locomotives for steam in the area, Mellon, a substantial stockholder, is credited with "dragging them into the program by the heels."

With such co-operation, the city of eternal night began enforcing an ordinance that forbids anybody—householder or industrialist—burning soft coal unless he has an automatic stoker. The ruling is enforced against dealers, who are penalized if they sell such coal to those who can not legally burn it.

The system is working so well that the city got 39 per cent more sunshine last winter than the winter before, though there was less wind to blow the smoke and fog away. Checks also show that the soot-dust fall has been cut greatly from pre-war levels.

To the casual visitor, this new look is the most startling feature of the far-reaching program now being pushed by the Allegheny Conference on Community Development. But it won't be long before other improvements will become apparent.

A major river and stream pollution cleanup is under way.

Six dams above the city, on tributaries of the Allegheny and Monongahela, would now greatly decrease the danger of such a flood as the 46-foot catastrophe in 1936 that took a dozen lives and did half a billion dollars damage.

A new six-lane highway will carry east-west traffic through the city on a no-traffic-light, no-crossover, limited-access highway that will connect, eventually, with the Turnpike on the east and with a four-lane road to the Ohio State line.

The wholly inadequate airport now in use is to be replaced by a huge Greater Pittsburgh Airport about 18 miles out of the city, built by the Army during the war. Between $12,000,000 and $15,000,000 are being spent on terminal facilities and parking.

The slum-like area at the tip of the Golden Triangle, where the Allegheny and Monongahela join to form the Ohio, is to be developed into a 36-acre Point State Park.

Behind this, at the lower end of the business section, a Redevelopment Authority plans seven 20-story office buildings—four in the first stage, to cost $35,000,000, and three later at a cost of more than $20,000,000. A big life insurance company plans to buy the buildings, and six major concerns already have expressed intention of moving in as tenants.

The Aluminum Company is put-

Hal Boyle Says

By Hal Boyle
NEW YORK — (AP) — Under a grey sky the big transport slowly berthed at a vast Brooklyn pier hung with banners.

A crowd of 400 stood silently on the pier to welcome home the 6,785 silent passengers on the ship—sailors done with the sea, soldiers done with war.

On open hatch disclosed a few of the flag-draped coffins that thronged the vessel. It was the Barney Kirschbaum named for the first American sea captain to lose his life in the second War.

And then this took place:

An Army band played the National anthem. There was a moment of silent prayer.

Tall, gray-haired Col. Edward R. Martin, a chaplain who spent 55 months overseas, spoke briefly. He said the world soon forgot the sacrifices of brave men but that a greater power beyond human understanding "comforts us in our hour of need."

Died For Freedom
"We must realize," said the chaplain, "that these men gave their lives for freedom—liberty not for one individual nor for one nation, but for the entire world, for all races and creeds, in order that they may call their home their own."

There was a final prayer, and then the sounding of "taps." As it ended, for down the pier another bugler took up the notes. He sent them back, faint and low, and every echo tore open a human heart.

The pier was too small to hold so many old memories.

The band struck up "Onward Christian Soldiers." The honor guard and a detachment of troops marched out in formation. The ceremony was over.

Women Sighed
The crowd walked to the edge of the pier and looked down into the open hatch of the vessel.

It happened suddenly. A stout, middle-aged woman sank to her knees and began to sob.

"By baby, oh by baby!"

She became incoherent:

"I used to wave goodbye to the ships when they sailed. My baby, oh, my baby!"

Her grief ran through the group like a widening suri wetting the eyes of other mothers, wives, and sisters. Some broke down and their men folk had to lead them away. In a few minutes more the long pier was empty.

Few More Such Homecomings
It was dusk. A light wind stirred the long banners—the flags of every state and every fighting unit that saw action overseas. And then men moved aboard the vessel to take off the dead who had made the long voyage home.

This same scene has taken place on this same pier many times in the last two years. But there will be few more such homecomings on this scale.

All but some 20,000 of the 160,000 American dead of World War two who are being returned have already come back. The main task has been completed in less than half the five years expected.

Soon the faraway battlefields will be tidy again. Or as tidy as a battlefield can be, when the men who fought there have gone back home—where they used to live.

Here's Where Atlantic Defense Pact Will Operate

Map above shows the security zone tentatively outlined in the North Atlantic Defense Pact. The area is the Atlantic Ocean north of the Tropic of Cancer to nearly the North Pole. It extends from North America eastward to include Algeria and northward through western Europe to Norway's Spitsbergen. In addition to the U.S., Canada, Britain, France, Norway, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands—Iceland, Denmark, Italy and Portugal are also considering the mutual defense pact.

cars at a time, and more than 2500 every 24 hours, is to be built at a cost of $4,000,000. It will be topped by a park so that it will look much like the five-story underground parking facility in San Francisco's Union Square.

The Parking Authority has plans also for five above-ground open-deck parking garages, to cost around $7,000,000 and handle 2500 cars at a time or some 5700 every 24 hours. The idea is to give everybody who drives to work in the Golden Triangle a chance for off-the-street parking.

The attack on inadequate housing is not so far along as these projects, but analysis of the need has been completed and all interests concerned, including labor unions, are cooperating to set up a Housing Development Board to eliminate bottlenecks. The goal is to provide homes in the under-$9000 class.

RUPTURED? SEE THE DOBBS TRUSS BULBLESS — BELTLESS — STRAPLESS

The truss that is different. It holds the muscles in place with a soft CONCAVE pad, while walking, working, lifting, swimming. Sanitary, wear when bathing. It only presses the body in two places. Nature teaches you not to force a bulb, ball or any convex pad into the rupture opening, thus spreading the already weakened muscles farther apart. Circulation is important, too.
